HOW ARE YOU GOING TO USE YOUR PORTRAITS?

We begin with the end in mind, so how are you planning on using your portraits?

I'm here to guide you through creating meaningful, heirloom portraits with a purpose.

Before your session, I encourage you to look around your home and imagine where your portraits could live. Are there walls that feel bare? Side tables or shelves that would be beautifully finished with framed artwork?

To ensure you get the very best value from your session, we'll thoughtfully plan around:

- Where your portraits will be displayed
- What style of artwork best suits your home and décor
- Who you'd love to gift portraits to – grandparents, family members, is your session around a gift giving season?
- Who should be included – would grandparents adore a updated professional portrait of their grandchild? Bring them along!

By starting with the finished product in mind, every image we create is intentional. Nothing is wasted, nothing is forgotten, and you're not left with decisions or unfinished projects once your session is complete. You'll walk away with finished artwork – ready to be displayed, gifted, and loved – and an experience designed to feel calm, considered, and completely taken care of. Because this is about more than photographs. It's about creating artwork that helps turn your house into a home.

Payment process: your session fee of £99 is due at the time of booking, securing your spot with me. Your package payment is due at your viewing appointment, typically 2 weeks after your sitter session.
